

We also have some enemies, like Lazy the jellyfish, which always wants to eat us. However, we run away very fast when we see her. Being so slow, I do not think she will ever catch us.

To learn more: Jellyfish are predators of many organisms, such as fish and copepods. They capture them using stinging cells called cnidocysts, which they have in their tentacles. Despite their size, jellyfish are also considered plankton.